Johanna Steen is our new coordinator for laboratory safety, whom you can read a short interview with here below.

Meet Johanna Steen - new coordinator for laboratory safety at FM

Welcome Johanna! Tell us about your employment.

I will be working as a coordinator for laboratory safety. Exactly what I will do, depends on what the researchers in Biomedicum needs help with.

Tell us a bit about your background.

Most recently, I come from the Department of Molecular Biosciences, Wenner-Gren institut at Stockholms University, where I was responsible for the laboratories. Before that I was a researcher for seven years investigating autoantibodies at CMM, KI. I took my PhD within the human atlas project at KTH.

What are you looking forward the most in your new employment?

I look forward to get to know all my new colleagues at FM, but mostly I am curious of what the researchers in Biomedicum needs help with. My ambition is to facilitate for the researchers to do what they do best- to research!

Johanna Steen starts her employment on June 20th.

Information

Reminder - rules for the bicycle storage

The bicycle season is here and there are many employees who want to park their bicycle in the bicycle storage room. We would like to remind you to follow the guidelines for the storage room:

- It's only allowed to park the bicycle in the bicycle rack.
- It's prohibited to park your bicycle against the wall within the marked areas.
- The storage room is only for temporary storage.

We will close the storage room for 2 days in June for cleaning and to repair the racks. The storage room will be emptied and the remaining bicycles will be taken care of. More information will come.
